

Youth Center Lease Negotiations "Amount To Run-Around By FPFA"

Negotiations for a lease with FPFA for land on which to erect the youth center and memorial park "amount to a run-around by FPFA, Mayor George F. Bauer told a special meeting of the town council Wednesday night.

"We have been working on this since May and receive the same treatment the co-op has met in trying to get a new store."

Latest requirement of the general field office is that no money from taxes or payments in lieu of taxes shall be used in any way for the erection, operation or maintenance of the youth center.

It was pointed out by Town Manager Gobbel that while the town has never contemplated using funds other than "those raised by popular subscription or through civic activities," the occasion might arise when payments by the town would be necessary to keep the center operating.

Also, it was felt that if this provision of the lease were agreed to, it would not be possible to use the recreation director for the center or the services of any other town employees.

INVASION OF RIGHTS

A letter from Town Solicitor John White, stated that the provision requested by FPFA represented an invasion of the rights of the town as granted by the state legislature.

The council was in agreement that the provision amounted to FPFA's controlling the expenditure of funds by the town and if the lease were signed as written "we would be signing our rights away," as Councilman Cain stated.

Mayor Bauer urged that the plans for the temporary building be dropped and that all efforts be directed to building a permanent structure.

It was agreed that Manager Gobbel would reply to FPFA for the council declining to sign the lease if it contains the clause that the town shall not spend any funds in connection with the youth center.

COMMITTEE TO MEET

Coordinator Joe Rogers will call a meeting of the youth center committee to determine if they would be willing to incorporate and negotiate for a lease in the event the town cannot agree on terms with FPFA. The committee will also consider whether it is wise to go ahead with the temporary building or try to sell it and concentrate on a permanent structure.

The council was reminded that the town was originally requested by FPFA to negotiate for the lease, rather than a group of citizens, but in the latest communication from the general field office, willingness is expressed to work with an incorporated group of citizens.

Restock Lake Plea

Citizens of Greenbelt who desire to see the once well-stocked Greenbelt lake replenished with fish are invited to attend a meeting on September 5, at 8 p. m., at the Athletic Club House.

Those who are interested, but cannot attend this meeting, may express their willingness to join the club by contacting Mr. Charles East, 56-K Crescent Road, phone 4887.

The youngest premature baby born at Leland Memorial Hospital to survive more than a short time will come home soon to 3-A Parkway.

Though not expected until some time in October, Linda Dell Cosimano, daughter of Thomas and La Rue Cosimano, arrived June 9 and weighed in at less than two pounds. Just out of the incubator, she now tips the scales at a husky 5 pounds, 2 ounces.

Holochwest Leaves Recreation Post

Vincent C. Holochwest, recreation director of Greenbelt for eight years, resigns Tuesday to take the position of supervisor of physical education activities in the schools of Prince Georges County.

Mr. Holochwest was appointed in 1938 by the then Town Manager Roy Braden to develop and operate a town recreation program. Under his direction, except for the period he was in the service, an extensive program has been carried on both for adults and school age children.

A dinner was given in his honor at Waldrop's restaurant Monday night at which sixty of his friends presented him with a brief case and pen and pencil set. The speakers, Town Manager Gobbel and Mayor George F. Bauer, spoke in appreciation of Holochwest's services here and wished him good luck in his new job.

Mr. Gobbel informed the COOPERATOR on Wednesday that a successor will be announced next week.

Shuttle-Bus Run Matter Of Months

Even though the street-car loops at Riverdale and Branchville are in the process of construction, it will be some time before Greenbelt is put on a shuttle-bus basis to Branchville, Mr. E. C. Giddings of Capital Transit Company told the COOPERATOR Wednesday.

"The master plan for the county is being put into effect as rapidly as materials can be obtained," he said, "and we plan to make changes in service and install new connections in the order of their urgency."

Construction of turn-around loops is the first step in the plan to operate high-speed trolleys from the center of Washington to Branchville, and Mr. Giddings estimates from six to eight weeks will be required to finish this part of the work. After that, new bus connections to the street-car line to serve areas now without transportation facilities will be installed. Later still, possibly several months, Greenbelt commuters will use bus service to Branchville and connect there with streamlined trolleys into downtown Washington.

Baseball Games Run As Benefits

The Recreation Department announces that the baseball game on Labor Day and the softball games tentatively scheduled for September 5 will be benefit games. A collection will be taken on each day for a recently injured Greenbelt player.

Children Report To School Thurs.

School bells will ring for Greenbelt children Thursday, September 5, at 9 a. m. for registration for the new school year.

Eastway still holds as the boundary line, dividing the north end and center schools. Children living south of Eastway will attend the center school and those living north of Eastway will go to the north end school.

All children are to report to their former classrooms and will be dismissed by noon. New registrants must be accompanied by their parents, and bring with them their birth certificate, certificates of immunization, and transfer and report cards.

To enter the first grade, children must be 6 years old prior to January 1, 1947. Registration for all new pupils will take place in the homemaking room at the center school and in the cafeteria at the north end school.

An anticipated increase in enrollment is being met by some additions to the teaching staff in both schools. There are to be two kindergarten sessions, 9 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. and 1 p. m. to 3:30 p. m. For the first 6 weeks of the term first graders will attend class half days for orientation purposes.

Mrs. Elizabeth Fuggitt and Mrs. Rowena Whittaker, principals of the two schools are planning a work-play program for the first three grades and a conservation program for the upper graders.

Although the regular session will officially get under way for pupils Monday, September 9, the teachers will meet September 4, 5 and 6 for planning and consultation purposes.

FAO To Consider World Food Needs

On September 2 in Copenhagen the Conference of the Food and Agriculture Organization will convene. Proposals will be made for a long term international food program aimed at preventing both shortages and surpluses of food—based on information gathered from 70 countries.

FAO grew out of the United Nations Conference on Food and Agriculture at Hot Springs, Virginia in May 1943. At present there are 42 member countries in this first of the new UN organizations.

The Congress of the United States on July 31, 1945, authorized the president to accept membership for this country in the FAO. The United States Department of Agriculture and other agencies have cooperated closely in supplying information and other services which have helped FAO get under way.

Policy-making body of FAO is the Conference, composed of one representative from each member nation. Each nation has one vote in the Conference, which meets at least once a year. An Executive Committee of nine to fifteen members acts for the Conference between sessions.

July 4 Finances

A report on the Fourth of July celebration was made available to the COOPERATOR this week by Town Manager James T. Gobbel.

Of a total of $250 spent by the town for prizes, fireworks and all other expenses, approximately $155 was returned by organizations participating in activities at the lake. All payments have been made by the groups operating concessions, the largest coming from the bingo game operated for the benefit of the youth center and the next from the "bird-cage" game sponsored by the Athletic Club.

Aid Safety Drive

Boy Scouts of Troop 202 are doing a good turn in the interests of safer driving this week by distributing pamphlets on highway rules to all Greenbelt drivers. The illustrated pamphlets were supplied by the state dept. of motor vehicles.

GMHA Membership Soars Toward Goal As Residents Push Total To 429

Four hundred and twenty nine tenants have joined the Greenbelt Mutual Housing Association bringing the total membership to 90 per cent of the number needed to obtain operation costs of the town from FPFA, it was disclosed Monday at the board of directors meeting held in the center school social room.

Q's and A's on Mutual Housing

Here are some of the questions currently being asked by residents interested in mutual home ownership in Greenbelt.

The COOPERATOR has gathered the answers from FPFA material; the practices of existing mutual housing corporations; and directors of the Greenbelt Mutual Housing Association.

1. Can I select my house?

Ans. It is customary for residents to have first selection under mutual housing practices.

2. I don't want an apartment.

Ans. This will depend upon available vacancies.

3. Who will be able to build a fence?

Ans. Questions of this type will be decided upon by the membership of the mutual housing corporation.

4. Will I be able to make alterations?

Ans. Any alteration likely to increase the value of the house will be looked upon with favor. However, the corporation will undoubtedly select an architect to advise on the question of alterations.

5. Can I change my sidewalk?

Ans. The convenience of the town versus the wish of the resident will be considered in cases like this one.

6. If I live in a defense home could I transfer to the older Greenbelt homes in a short time?

Ans. This depends on vacancies available.

7. At what price will apartments be assessed?

Ans. The Federal appraisal of the project will apparently involve appraisals of the individual homes and these figures will serve as guides.

8. Will I have to pay the full cost of the house at once?

Ans. No. Just a down payment of 5 per cent. Even this is not binding as the residents cannot be evicted until January 1, 1948, or until the elimination of rent control regulations whichever is later.

9. If I move will I get back the down payment?

Ans. Probably yes. Even though the market value of the house is lower than when first purchased by the tenant, the corporation's reserves should permit a full refund.

10. Will I have to keep up my own house?

Ans. The tenant will be responsible for the general care and maintenance of the house. The corporation will probably provide maintenance staffs to do the work.

Three-Week Baby Twelfth Polio Case; Berwyn Charges Raw Sewage Is Menace

A three-week-old infant of Hillside Road, is Greenbelt's twelfth infantile paralysis case. The baby was taken to Children's Hospital the weekend before last, but the diagnosis was not definite until last Friday.

In Berwyn and surrounding towns a letter addressed to the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission is being circulated for signature by all residents. The letter charges that "the discharge of some 2,000,000 gallons of raw sewage from a series of small out-

Anticipating no let up in the membership applications the board is preparing a letter of application to send to FPFA as the next step in the procedure for buying the town, after the required 472 membership figure is reached.

Board Member Abe Chasanow relayed to the board a request from the First Washington Mutual Home Association, a veterans organization, to join forces with the Greenbelt Mutual Housing Association in its plan to buy Greenbelt.

The veterans organization would help finance the purchase in exchange for the privilege of building 1200 homes on the land between the high school and the lake, according to Mr. Chasanow.

The board of directors took no action on the matter but appointed M. H. Salzman to keep in informal touch with the group.

A report from Anthony Madden, membership drive chairman, was read which stated that he is planning a clean up drive to cover areas in town not previously touched.

The application, which the GMHA will submit to FPFA, will express a desire and intent to organize a Mutual Ownership Corporation for the purpose of purchasing the project in accordance with an FPFA manual of procedure covering sales of federal property to mutual housing corporations.

Twenty five per cent of the dwelling unit occupants must sign the application.

Upon receipt of the application the FPFA will consider the advisability of withholding the project from sale to other groups and if the application is approved, the project will be withheld from open sale for six months.

The sale price of the project will be given to the representatives of the occupants within 45 days after approval by the FPFA.

Dramatic Group To Pick Fall Play

The Greenbelt Theatre Group will meet Friday night in the Arts and Crafts room of the Center school to pick a fall play.

Further, the letter quotes from the National Institute of Health as follows: "The polio virus has been definitely found to occur with dangerous frequency in sewage and contaminated waters."

Texas Community Tries Mutual Plan

(The following article about a community in Texas operating under a mutual housing plan was excerpted from a letter written to Mrs. David Steimle by her brother who lives in Avion Village.)

Avion Village, Texas, was built in 1941 under FPHA. Pictures were printed in Life Magazine publicizing the prefabricated houses.

There are 300 permanent units and later 200 war housing (we call them barracks) were added. The permanent units consist of approximately 50 two-story apartment buildings with 4 units in each (kitchenette, living room, bedroom and bath).

The rest of the permanent units are flat top houses. They consist of two and three bedroom structures, living room, kitchen (connected to living room by a dinette), hall and bath.

Some of the houses (about one on each side of each street) are a sort of duplex, backed up to each other. The others are separate houses.

All buildings are on a type of dead-end street and the street is actually the back of the houses. That is, the supposed front of the houses faces a park.

There are no garages—just a parking space at our "back" door—it's front as far as we're concerned.

But we have something you don't have, and that is hot water faucets on the outside. The floors are tile throughout except on the second floor of the apartments, which are hardwood in living and bedroom, tile in the kitchen and bath.

The whole village is pear-shaped with a huge park in the center. A wading pool, playground equipment and lots of space occupy the park. We're trying to get sidewalks in the parks between the streets for the kids to ride their tricycles on.

NO RENT INCREASE

Rent has never changed. We pay $21.50 for the apartments per month plus utilities (flat rate). It comes to I think, $26.50 in summer and $27.50 in the winter. We heat with gas throughout. You've got to live in Texas to appreciate that. Our places couldn't be used in your climate. It doesn't get cold and stay that way long here. The system of rent was fixed at $21.50 for apartments, $24.50 for two bedrooms and $26.50 for three bedrooms. The pro-rated utilities were set on top of that.

We were set up under the FPHA and the management and maintenance were under Civil Service. Two years ago Mutual Ownership popped up. We all decided to go in. At first we had a membership fee of $3.00 to belong. A couple of weeks ago we boosted it to $25. That money goes into the Association Treasury and as I'm chairman of the Resident Council with 10 others sitting in, we control that fund. We also get the money from coke, candy and other vending machines and use it for parties, hobby shops, campaigns, and benefits for the residents.

TRIAL PERIOD

Our goal was Mutual Ownership, then and here's how it started. The government allowed such housing projects to operate themselves for a trial period of several years. That is to say, the management (a resident manager here in town), the office staff, the superintendent of maintenance and his crew of painters, electricians, plumbers and so forth were paid out of the money we paid for rent. Part of it went for operating expenses, part for taxes to Grand Prairie, part for improvements, part for interest, and part for amortization of the principal (what Uncle Sam wanted for initial cost). Through efficient operation we made it go and paid for itself. That is to say—it didn't cost the government any extra.

After operation of two years we proved that we could buy it from the government, on the basis of past operation and we formed the Avion Village Mutual Ownership Association. The organization had been a corporation before with a board of directors—3 residents of the village, 3 at large from the community (Grand Prairie and Dallas) and 3 representing the government. We had 3 lawyers on the board.

After two years of operation, we find that we can run the business ourselves and may exercise our option to buy the place from the government. So we formed the association. Now we've applied for the option and figure that we have 45 years to pay off the cost. As Uncle Sam wants to get rid of it, he'll sell for maybe 60 per cent of initial cost. We put in our bid and by figuring all costs find that in 15 years we can pay it off.

DEMOCRATIC CONTROL

Nobody owns any part of the house or village per se. But a member of the association owns it mutually with 299 others. He has a vote to set policies and can elect whomever he pleases to the board or council. If he moves when we own it, he can sell his option or interest to the next resident. As long as the government has 51 per cent of the money still in the project, it of course can approve and must budget for expenses. Thereafter we run ourselves and nobody can raise the rent or run us off unless the majority so rules.

Certainly had difficulty in getting people to understand what it was all about, mainly because they didn't attend the meetings nor hear the discussions. A small group initiated the plan and our paper carried the story every issue. The best bet is to have a big party—give prizes—get crowds together some way and then have the men who know the story present it. It's as easy for 3000 to do it as it is for 300. They may have to canvass house to house but it's worth it.

As I said before, there are 300 permanent units so I'd guess we have a population of about 1000.

Water, electricity and gas are all connected to a central meter and the rates amount on the average to about $6 a month. It varies according to the size of the dwelling.

Holiday Services

B'nai B'rith announces the organization will sponsor High Holiday services in Greenbelt this year. Mr. Samuel Gottesman has agreed to officiate. Further details will be announced at a later date.

The Homemaker

By JUNE WILBUR

It's nice to see turkish towels coming back on the market but between too-high prices, even for seconds, and limited numbers per customer, the ones on hand would better be stretched a little further.

Those that are beyond recall as bath towels may be turned into other services. Cutting out the middle, worn-out section and sewing together the two raw edges gives a narrow towel for a little more use, child size.

Another procedure is to cut squares from the least worn sections, finishing the edges by machine or by hand and acquiring some wash cloths of pretty good quality. With towels that are worn really thin, it is wise to stitch two squares together for a thicker, more absorbent wash cloth.

A hand size turkish towel which is folded in half and stitched together makes a fine dish rag. For this kind of use, the center section can well be removed first if it is quite badly worn.

Dish towels are a bit more difficult to salvage. When they begin to display broken yarns, it's hard to mend fast enough to keep ahead of the holes.

It doesn't hurt anything to have a seam in a dish towel so why not take the best parts of two old ones and stitch them together for fresh life in such a towel. This can be done with a plain seam or with a seam which is decorated to add color. It is hardly worth spending a lot of time however, on something which has limited wear left.

Old dish towels also make absorbent dish rags and serve better if they are of double thickness of fabric, stitched together around the edges. Worn out sections containing breaks or holes should not be used, but there is generally enough area in a torn dish towel to cut dish rag size squares.

For those who are completely out of dish towels, it is good to remember that all during the war our linen supplies were cut off. As our own home grown linens are not of the finest kind, all-linen towels cannot possibly be of the best quality. Good old sacking can still be relied on, penny for penny, to give good value despite the fact that this, too, has met the inflation bug.

Some of the niftiest and best wearing dish cloths this columnist has seen have been ones which were crocheted out of string. It's the kind of thing that can be worked on at afternoon teas or while relaxing in the evening listening to the radio. One ball of string goes quite a long way toward making attractive, good-wearing dish cloths. A plain square hole design is recommended for greatest absorbency.

Plan to can, freeze, pickle, or otherwise preserve some of your garden surplus and put up fruits while abundant. By stocking your pantry with home-preserved food, you assure a more adequate supply for your own family next winter.

Architect Reports On New GCS Store

At the GCS Board of Directors meeting last Friday night R. E. Robertson, architect, gave a report on plans for the new store. Details on the layout which are being studied include flow of traffic in the store and the location of kitchen, refrigerators, and storage space.

It was decided at this meeting to send either the president, Dayton Hull, or vice president, Bob Valkhausen, as a delegate to the National Co-op Congress to be held in Columbus next month.

Plans were discussed for the next membership meeting to be held September 18. Four directors and an election committee will be elected at this membership meeting. Nominations for directors may be made by any two members and should be turned in to George Esbaugh, secretary, at the GCS office above the drug store. The nominating committee, headed by Anthony Madden, is in charge of getting nomination blanks to members.

Shamrocks Shake Landover, 10-2; Leroy Clark Hurt In 1st Inning

Johnny Clements showed all of his old time pitching prowess before an overflowing crowd last Sunday at Braden Field when he handcuffed Landover with five hits and beat them 10-2. For seven innings he pitched masterful ball, allowing two harmless singles while his mates were pecking away at Giddens.

John got a bit careless in the eighth and threw a "blooper" to Schaffner who promptly hit it over Holly's head for a triple. Two runs scored in that inning.

Bill Moore and John Newman led the hitters with three safeties apiece while Al Nuzzo and Norm Enzor chipped in with two each.

A sad note was struck in the first inning of the game when, after singling to right, Leroy Clark fractured his right ankle sliding into second base on an attempted steal. Leroy will be out of the important double knockout series in which his team is engaged and will be missed very much. Julie Andrus is expected home after Labor Day and should boost the hopes of the locals.

Sunday, September 1 finds the Shamrocks traveling to Snug Harbor. Game time 3 p. m. The players will meet in front of the swimming pool at 2 p. m.

Over $1800 Raised For Jewish Appeal

The most intensive drive ever launched in Greenbelt by the local Jewish organizations netted a total of $1810.50 for the United Jewish Appeal from 156 Jewish contributors and additional non-Jewish contributors, to aid the devastated minorities in Europe and Palestine.

The quota of $1500 was well-exceeded in the final count. The total of non-Jewish contributions was $119.50 from prominent local citizens, the American Legion, American Legion Auxiliary, Citizens Association, and the Women's Club.

The area quota including Washington was $1,000,000, and by the latest figures, this amount was exceeded by contributions from the greater Washington area.

The local groups engaged in canvassing the town included: B'nai B'rith, Zionist Organization, the Hebrew Congregation and the Congregation Sisterhood. The largest local contributor was theater-manager Jack Fruchtmann.

Playoff

A double-header is tentatively scheduled for Thursday night between the Reps and Clifton Liquors to settle the county softball championship, Clifton having won for the first half of the season, and Greenbelt the second.

However, the Clifton team is still in the city series and if it continues to win, the games here will have to be postponed.

Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson, speaking at a "Famine" luncheon August 22, estimated that 22 million tons of wheat and 4 million tons of other grains will be needed in shortage areas of the world between now and the 1947 harvest.

Second Baseman Fractures Ankle

Right at this time, when the Shamrocks appear on their way to better things, they are dealt a cruel setback in the loss of their regular keystone guardian.

Leroy Clark, former tailgunner with some sixty odd B-26 missions, broke his ankle last Sunday as the 'Rocks were playing Landover in a County League game. The youthful second-sacker opened the home half of the first inning with a clean single to right. On the first pitch to the next hitter Clark set sail for second and was tossed out on a fine peg. His spikes caught in the sack to cause the fracture.

Greenbelt's police car, equipped with a litter, responded very promptly to Braden Field and Clark was whisked away to Leland Memorial Hospital in Riverdale.

Becasted but cheerful, Clark plans to root from the sidelines as his team-mates battle Snug Harbor away Sunday.

Veterans Corner

By HOWARD SCHONBERGER
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. Can the widow of a World War II veteran continue to receive death compensation if she remarries?

A. No. Remarriage is a bar to continued payment of compensation to a widow of a World War I or World War II veteran.

Q. May a veteran obtain a loan guarantee to buy or construct a home which would house more than a single family?

A. Yes, but one veteran cannot get a guaranteed loan to buy or build more than a four-family house. If more than one veteran is buying, then the basic four-family home is allowed for the group and this may be increased by one additional family unit for each veteran. Thus, two veterans can buy or build a six-family home, three veterans a seven-family home, etc.

Q. Regardless of financial status, is an honorably discharged veteran eligible for the $150 burial allowance?

A. Yes. Financial position does not affect qualification.

Q. How long will a veteran of World War II be eligible for loan benefits under the G. I. Bill?

A. Until 10 years after the official end of the war.

Q. How long must a National Service Life Insurance policy be in effect before it can be converted?

A. At least one year.

Q. If a lender turns down a veteran's application for a loan, what should a veteran do?

A. He should visit another lender. The fact that one lender is not interested does not necessarily indicate that the loan does not have merit. Sometimes a particular lender is not interested in making the type of loan the veteran wants.

Q. What amount of readjustment allowance is paid to a totally unemployed veteran; to a partially unemployed veteran; and to a self-employed veteran?

A. A totally unemployed veteran is entitled to receive $20 for the week for which he claims benefits. A partially unemployed veteran is entitled to $20 each week, less the amount of wages in excess of $3. An eligible self-employed veteran is entitled to receive $100 for a calendar month, less the amount of his net earnings.

Q. What are the penalties in case a veteran accepts readjustment allowances to which he is not entitled?

A. If a veteran knowingly accepts an allowance to which he is not entitled, he is ineligible to receive further readjustment allowances under the section of the law dealing with these payments. Also, the law provides for fine and imprisonment for anyone who fraudulently obtains payments or makes a false statement in order to cause readjustment allowances to be issued under the act.

Outing Sponsored By A. C. and Legion

A Labor Day outing, from 1 p. m. to dark, at the Greenbelt lake, Monday, Sept. 2, will include spectator and participation events, sponsored by the Athletic Club and the American Legion.

The afternoon program includes prize fights, horseshoe pitching contests and bingo. There will be entertainers to perform singing and dancing acts. The Community Band will present a one hour concert from 4:30 to 5:30.

Refreshment stands will be set up and operated by the Child Care Center, the Boy Scouts and the American Legion Auxiliary.

The highlight of the evening will be the drawing of the winning number in the raffle for the new 1946 Ford at 6 p. m.

Egli Named Coach At Derry School

John Egli, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kitchen, 8-D Ridge Road, former Penn State star and a Purple Heart veteran of 3 years' service in the Army and who graduated from Penn State this year, was elected head basketball and assistant football coach at Derry High School, Derry, Pa.

John was a 4-year letter man for the Nittany Lions in basketball, co-captaining the team in 1943 just before he was called into the service in the 4th Armored Division in Europe.

While with the Penn Staters in basketball, he was a member of the top flight cage outfit in 1942 that played in the N. C. A. A. Sugar Bowl playoffs in Tulane Stadium in New Orleans.

CARE Fund Total Hits $8000 High

The "general relief" fund of money contributed from Eastern Cooperative League territory to the Cooperative for American Remittance to Europe (CARE) has reached $8,282.

Mrs. Isabelle Friedman, ECL's CARE chairman, reports that there are now 42 local CARE chairmen at work, and that CARE's 49-lb. Army-surplus food packages for relief are now available for local display in connection with relief drives. At the Amherst Institute, run by CEL, Cooperators added $142 to this fund.

In recent news releases from CARE's office at 50 Broad Street, New York 4, N. Y., the following facts were revealed:

Three hundred and ninety-one thousand CARE food packages have arrived in the eleven countries in Europe where the organization operates, and are warehoused locally awaiting distribution ordered by American relatives and friends.

The packages are distributed as follows: Austria, 38,000 packages; Belgium, 8,000; Czechoslovakia, 20,000; Finland, 12,000; France, 55,000; British and American-occupied areas in Germany, 100,000; Greece, 23,000; Italy, 55,000; the Netherlands, 15,000; Norway, 10,000; and Poland, 60,000.

The French sector of Berlin has been opened to the receipt of CARE packages.

For each package ordered in the U. S. A. for a friend or relative in Germany a similar CARE package will be sent to a German on a "general relief" list by relief agencies in this country, to insure fair distribution to the neediest.

CARE has accepted the application of the Greek War Relief Association, Inc., for membership, bringing to a total of 25 the national organizations which compose CARE.

Two Finnish cooperatives—Osustukkukauppa and Suomen Osustukkukauppojen Keskuskunta—have signed special agreements with CARE to speed delivery of packages in Finland.

Riflemen To Try For Championship

Riflemen of the Greenbelt and the Berwyn gun clubs will adjust their sights and steady their nerves to decide the Maryland Rifle League championship Sunday at 2 p. m. on the local range. Both teams are undefeated as they shoot against each other in this last match of the summer shooting season.

Winners of last winter's indoor series, the Berwyn marksmen are conceded an edge in forecasting Sunday's match. The addition of Brown, Kern and Woodman to the local club's line for the outdoor matches, however, has boosted the Greenbelt stock enough to worry the visitors and to promise first-class competition.

Sunday's meet will follow the 3-position course at 50 yards. Visitors are welcome at the clubhouse and range which is located just north of the town disposal plant beyond Greenbelt Lake.

Reps Drop Two; Out Of Series

The Greenbelt Reps lost their second game in the city series to the Jack and Jill team by the score of 8-2. This eliminated the local team from further play in the series. The game was loosely played and the lack of hits was the cause of the defeat.

On Tuesday night at Greenbelt the Reps played Pincus Grill in a practice game and were beaten by the score of 7-6. This was a nine-inning game and it was close all the way. The visitors jumped out to a five-run lead, and the Reps could not catch them. The visitors scored twice in the first and three in the fourth before the locals began to hit the ball, and come through with four runs in the fifth inning. Barker and Goldfaden hit home runs.

There is more to collecting than digging down deep for cash to pile up records on bookshelves, sewing machines or other catch-alls. Second to listening pleasure comes indexing. Third is storage and fourth scrapbooks.

Indexing can vary from the common, "I carry all that information in my head", to the multi-divisioned card file. The memory system may, after fumbling, bring you to the label you seek but doesn't encourage you to look beyond that label for the wealth of information available. Unless the memory is 100 per cent on the beam you handle several records before you arrive at your destination. The other extreme sub-divides automatically, alphabetizing artists, arrangers, bands, brands, catalog numbers, composers, conductors, classics, jazz, orchestras, solos, titles, types, to mention a few.

+++

Small collections of 1000 records or less can be stored in albums away from radiators, direct rays of the sun and the fingers of Junior. Albums of three or four envelopes make for speedy, accurate indexing while the dowdy-dozen number is a clumsy, record-breaking device and should be reserved for seldom-played platters if used at all.

+++

I combine scrapbook and album. The inside covers of most albums are blank or carry advertisements of other albums. These I reserve for larger color photographs and pictures from Columbia, Victor, Capehart, General Electric magazine ads. The record-holding envelopes even with the window in the middle have enough room for columns of criticisms, pictures and related material.

+++

Most music stores close out a few empty albums monthly that have been dropped by shippers or abused by shoppers, for a quarter or less. Glue and then shellac a color print or photograph to the cover, paint the binding tape, label it with a line of type from a catalogue, magazine or book and you have a tailor-made album.

+++

Like Bob Hope? Capitol offers a big helping of Hope Concentrate as dished out to the armed services. Eight sides is a lot of Hope but the belly laughs are spaced with four serious tributes to the U. S. Army, Navy, Marines and Coast Guards. With all its humor, it reminds us a few months ago we were engaged in a hellish war. Perhaps we should send complimentary copies to the gentlemen busy kicking each other's shins under the Peace Table.

Hollywood is stampeding the waxing works. The list of stars making records include everybody but Lassie and Roy Rogers' trigger.

It's never too late to start a garden—up to a few weeks before killing frosts in the fall—with kinds of vegetables that come quickly.

"Q's And A's"

11. Can I sell my house?

Ans. Yes. However, the house must be first offered for sale to the corporation. The tenant would get back what he had put in but not inflated benefits. The corporation would try to set up reserves so that homes would not be sold at a loss.

12. How do we know Greenbelt can operate in the black under mutual housing?

Ans. This is not known, and won't be until the selling price and operating costs are made available to GMHA.

13. Will larger homes be built in Greenbelt under mutual housing?

Ans. The purchase of Greenbelt will facilitate the building of new homes although probably not for some time.

Discussion Groups Proposed By GCS

At a meeting called Monday night by William Nicholas, chairman of the GCS education committee, preliminary discussions were held with a view to starting local discussion groups patterned after the type initiated in Ohio by the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

The idea is to organize small groups of people, not necessarily neighborhood groups, to discuss topics of mutual interest. Each group would pick its own subjects.

The following persons were named as a planning committee: Mrs. Ruth Taylor, Mrs. Sam Schwimmer, Mr. John Brown, Mrs. Opie Stage, Mrs. Jane Andrusic, and Mrs. Ann Braund. The committee will meet soon to lay plans for holding discussions and will consult with Mr. Hutchinson, a representative of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation who is an expert on this form of adult education.

The meeting also discussed the problem of employee training, especially with regard to the possibility of getting more employee-trainees under the on-the-job training program of the GI Bill of Rights.

AVC Auxiliary Elects Officers

The Auxiliary of the American Veterans Committee held their second meeting last Monday night. The members were interested to find out that this is the first AVC Auxiliary chapter to be organized in Maryland, and plan to send a delegate to the State Convention which will be held soon.

The following officers were elected at this meeting: Edith Nicholas, chairman, Dorothy Thomason, secretary-treasurer, and Lydia Novick, program chairman. It was decided that the group would meet the last Monday of every month. Wives of all veterans are eligible to participate and are invited to the meetings. The group decided that their purpose will be primarily social.

The Fish Line

By ROY HOLBROOK

Scavengers, as stated in the preceding issue, are one of the basic principles and necessities of the balanced aquarium.

+++

The Aquatic snails in themselves are interesting animals. They live on much the same foods that fishes do but will not eat live animals. They consume algae—a fine green plant growth, the dying leaves of plants and, most important of all, uneaten fish food. If this food were allowed to remain on the bottom of the tank it would soon decay and foul the water or culture a host of micro-organisms that could be damaging to the fish.

+++

When setting up your tank it would be wise to try to keep the surface of the bottom as smooth as possible so as to eliminate the hazard of developing inaccessible pockets favorable to decomposition.

+++

A few of our tropical fish either amuse themselves or satisfy their appetites by nipping at snails. The Guppy is a sure snail tormentor. The Dempsey of the Cichlids species goes the limit by shaking them out of the shell and eating them.

The friends of snails include such fishes as the Danios, Barbs and Mollies.

A very common false notion about snails is that they are highly sensitive to salt. However, salt is used by many aquarists when the water is lacking in certain minerals and also as an all around tonic. Snails can easily stand a teaspoon of salt in each gallon of aquarium water, but are in distress (and so are most plants) if the quantity is doubled. Most of the world's water snails are in the ocean.

+++

Another excellent scavenger is the South American Catfish (Corydoras Paleatus). Its color is a shining olive green, toward the anal fin yellowish to white. The average size is from one to two inches.

Catfish have a most peaceful nature and are considered very essential for the maintenance of every balanced aquarium. Among successful aquarists they are regarded as the officers of the "Department of Sanitation". They are ground fish, constantly picking up left-over food remnants which other fish do not eat. Another value of the catfish is that their principle oxygen requirement is obtained from the air above the tank instead of from the water. For that reason many prefer to have only them as their scavengers.
